

Privacy Statement

We understand the importance of protecting your privacy and we are committed to complying with the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth) ("the Privacy Act"), the Australian Privacy Principles set out in the Privacy Act, applicable Codes of Practice to which we subscribe and other laws and codes affecting your personal information. A copy of our Privacy Policy is available on our website at www.beyondbank.com.au/privacy or on request.

How we collect your personal information

We will only collect personal information (including credit information) directly from you, unless you have provided your consent. This information will generally come from what you provide in your application for one of our products or services, and from supporting documentation.

We may also need to collect personal information (including credit-related information) about you from third parties, such as any referees that you provide, your employer, other Credit Providers and third party service providers including credit-reporting bodies.

Why we collect your personal information

We may use your personal information (including credit-related information) for the purpose of providing products and services to you and managing our business relationship with you. This may include:

- assessing and processing your application for consumer or commercial credit or to be a guarantor for the applicant
- assessing your credit worthiness
- managing your loan or the arrangements under which your loan is funded
- executing your instructions
- ongoing servicing of our relationship with you
- charging and billing
- protecting you and us from error or fraud
- research and development
- collecting overdue payments due under our credit products
- managing our rights and obligations regarding external payment systems, or
- direct marketing.

Some laws require us to obtain personal information about you before we provide you with particular products or services or process particular transactions in which you are involved – eg laws relating to anti-money laundering and counter-terrorism financing, consumer credit, taxation and real property transactions.

If you do not provide us with the personal information that we request, we may not be able to consider your application for credit or provide other products and services.

What information can be disclosed?

The Privacy Act allows us and other applicable persons to disclose personal information about you, and any guarantor, in connection with providing credit to you. Personal information may contain credit information and include:

- details to identify you and verify your identity, such as your name, sex, date of birth, current and two previous addresses, current and last known employer, and driver's licence number
- the fact that you have applied for credit and the amount, or that we are a current Credit Provider to you, or that you have agreed to be a guarantor

- advice that payments previously notified as unpaid are no longer overdue
- information about your current or terminated consumer credit accounts and repayment history
- payments overdue for at least 60 days and for which collection action has started
- in specified circumstances, that in our opinion you have committed a serious credit infringement
- the fact that credit provided to you by us has been paid or otherwise discharged, and
- other information about credit standing, worthiness, history or capacity that Credit Providers can disclose under the Privacy Act, including a credit report.

When we may give personal information to other organisations

The Credit Providers mentioned below may:

- obtain a commercial and consumer credit report containing personal information about you from a credit-reporting body
- obtain personal information about you from your employer and any referees that you may provide and disclose to them, for the purpose of verification, personal information you have provided to us which they could reasonably be expected to be able to verify
- exchange credit information about you with each other, and
- exchange credit information about you with any credit-reporting body and any other provider of credit to you named in your credit application or a credit report from a credit-reporting body.

Credit Providers can mean:

- us
- our related companies
- any introducer, dealer or broker referred to in a loan application
- any Credit Provider named in your credit report issued by a credit-reporting body
- any agent or contractor of ours assisting in processing the loan application, and
- other entities involved that may be involved in a securitisation arrangement which we use to fund your loan and any loan originator.

In addition, in connection with assessing your loan application, administering your loan or collecting unpaid amounts under your loan, we may give information to:

- external organisations that are our assignees, agents or contractors
- external service providers to us, such as:
 - those we use to verify your identity
 - payment systems operators
 - our computer bureau (Data Action Pty Ltd)
 - printing and mailing houses
 - fraud prevention service providers, and
 - research consultants
- our professional advisers, such as accountants, lawyers and auditors

- your representative, for example, lawyer, mortgage broker, financial adviser or attorney, as authorised by you
- insurers and re-insurers, where insurance is provided in connection with our services to you
- debt collecting agencies, if you have not repaid a loan as required
- state or territory authorities, and PEXA (the national electronic property exchange), that give assistance to facilitate the provision of home loans to individuals
- government and regulatory authorities, if required or authorised by law
- other Credit Providers, and their professional advisers
- other entities for which you have provided your consent.

Important information about credit-reporting bodies

If you apply for or hold any kind of credit with us, or agree to guarantee or indemnify a loan, we may disclose information to a credit-reporting body. That includes disclosing that you are in default under a credit agreement or have committed a serious credit infringement, if that is the case.

Specifically, we may disclose information to or collect information from Equifax, whose privacy policy and contact details are available at www.equifax.com.au

Credit-reporting bodies collect credit information about individuals which they provide as credit reports to Credit Providers and others in the credit industry to assist them in managing credit risk, collecting debts and other activities.

"Credit pre-screening" is a service for Credit Providers wishing to send direct marketing material about credit services. A credit-reporting body uses information it holds to screen out individuals who do not meet criteria set by the Credit Provider. Credit-reporting bodies must maintain a confidential list of individuals who have opted out of their information being used in pre-screening. To opt-out of credit pre-screening, contact the credit-reporting body, using the contact details on their website, referred to above. You can also ask a credit-reporting body not to use or disclose your personal information for a period if you believe on reasonable grounds that you have been or are likely to be a victim of fraud, including identity fraud.

Lender's mortgage and trade insurers

In connection with providing credit to you, a lenders' mortgage insurer or a registered trade insurer may obtain credit information about you from a Credit Provider or from a credit-reporting body to assess whether to provide lenders' mortgage insurance to us in relation to an application for consumer credit, or whether to provide trade insurance to us in relation to an application for commercial credit.

Guarantors

In connection with providing credit to you, the Credit Providers may give a guarantor, or a person who is considering becoming a guarantor, credit information about you for the purpose of enabling the guarantor to decide whether to act as guarantor or to keep informed about the guarantee.

Personal information about third parties

You represent that, if at any time you supply us with personal information about another person (for example a referee), you are authorised to do so; and you agree to inform that person who we are, how to contact us, and how to obtain our Privacy Policy, and that we will use and disclose their personal information for the purposes set out in this notice and that they can gain access to that information by contacting us.

Our Privacy Policy

Our Privacy Policy provides additional information about how we handle your personal information. It explains how you can access, or seek a correction of, any personal information that we hold about you.

It also explains how you may complain about a possible breach of the Privacy Act or the Privacy (Credit Reporting) Code in relation to the personal information that we hold about you, and how we will deal with your complaint.

Acknowledgment

By signing, you acknowledge that you have read and understood this document and provide your permission to Beyond Bank Australia to obtain and disclose information in accordance with the manner specified in this Notice. Additionally, you authorise the persons and organisations named in this Notice to disclose and obtain information in the ways specified until the credit is repaid in full.

You also acknowledge by signing that the information you have provided in your application for credit is true, complete and correct. These particulars have been given to Beyond Bank Australia to enable it to decide whether or not to grant you a loan and you acknowledge that Beyond Bank Australia will rely upon these particulars when making its decision.

You declare that you are not undischarged bankrupts and there are no outstanding judgments or claims against you.
